Modern Slavery Policy

CPC Battery Services Ltd is committed to driving out modern slavery and human trafficking as this remains a blight on our global society. However small a business is, it has a responsibility to be alert to the risks within the business and its wider chain of supply.

The Directors shall take responsibility for implementing this policy statement and its objectives. Our employees are expected to report any concerns to the Directors who will act upon them. We are further committed to ensuring that no one will suffer any detrimental treatment as a result of raising a genuine concern in good faith under this policy even if it turns out to be a mistake.

Structure and Business Statement

CPC Battery Services Ltd is the largest independent privately owned battery distributor within London's M25. The company has specialised in the supply and distribution of all types of batteries for over 40 years. As well as supply and distribution we have the most up to date battery testing equipment and test batteries for large well recognised corporate organisations.

Supply Chain

CPC Battery Services Ltd has responsibility to the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and requires our suppliers, contractors and business partners to support our zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery. We are committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chain or in any part of our business. We are further committed to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business relationships.

Due Diligence into Slavery and Human Trafficking

As part of our due diligence into slavery or human trafficking, CPC Battery Services Ltd is aware there is a high risk when sourcing outside the UK and Europe. Therefore, where possible, CPC Battery Services Ltd will aim to source within the UK and Europe. It has been our policy to build long term relationships with our European and local suppliers and make clear our expectations and business behaviour. With regards to international supply chains, we only have points of contact with their UK companies and we monitor and expect these companies to have suitable anti-slavery and human trafficking policies in place.

This policy will be reviewed.
